

I am frankly appaled that NAB is trying to control what I am paying to listen to. If i choose to give my money to a company to provide me with information it should not be controlled because government officials will loose money on advertising for their less than adequate radio stations. If it weren't for the fact that I have to listen to the same information every half an hour there would be no need for satellite radio companies.